Cover Letter

Dear Sir,

I came across your post about mentoring production grade web development in Developer Kaki group in Facebook, as you mentioned that web development is your specialty, I would really like to learn from an expert in this field and explore about web development as having a mentor to guide me to the correct path would accelerate my learnings.

Addition, since the incident about government's website JKJAV, there's whole lot of hot takes in Developer Kaki group of what went wrong with the website and improvement regarding it. I went through some of it but as a mobile application developer, I'm limited to digest most of the discussion. I hope I could learn the required solid foundation to build a website.

Yours sincerely,

Philip Ding Kean Hann
